The cover features a geometric pattern of overlapping triangles in shades of pink, teal, and grey. The title 'Milieux Institute for Arts, Culture and Technology' and 'Annual Report 2019-2020' are centered. The spread includes a photograph of people in a workshop setting and a table of contents.

Milieux Institute for Arts, Culture and Technology
Annual Report 2019-2020

When you put ambitious students and faculty together in a shared space, exchange of ideas and perspectives is inevitable. These encounters often take place at Milieux's many diverse events, community gatherings, and workshops. However, the kinds of encounters Milieux excels at fostering are unexpected, serendipitous.

Each of Milieux's eight clusters has a specific research mandate, and the encounters between them are continuously producing new special projects. Collaborators, from undergraduate fellows to post-doctoral students to visiting partners from around the world, are always bringing in fresh ideas and opportunities that give way to ground-breaking research-creation.

MilieuXbauhaus

From November 5 to 14, 2019, the Milieux Institute held the MilieuXbauhaus Festival. Milieux's graduate student researchers, much like the Bauhaus students of a century ago, are interested in the fundamental engagements between art, technology, culture, and design. The program featured an open house, two parties, two performances, nine workshops, 10 screenings, and 13 talks by Milieux members and visiting scholars. The Goethe Institute, SenseFactory, and the Canadian Embassy in Berlin were community partners in producing this cross-disciplinary event focused on critical reflection.

Four Chambers' work is featured exclusively on their website, A Four Chambered Heart, which is only accessible to viewers who are paying members on Patreon. Modelled after the painterly style of the artist, Patreon is an online crowdfunding platform that supports an artist's practice on an ongoing basis; individual viewers pay nine dollars in exchange for exclusive access to the work. At the height of their success, of $1,3796 per video from this platform, highly saturated internet porn market entirely through Four Chambers' art and media presence, concentrated in the form of Tumblr and Instagram.⁵ There, soft-focus images of silky bodies dominate, without concealing errant nipples and bushes.

Yiara Magazine is a student-run, undergraduate feminist art publication. Based in Montreal, Yiara publishes an annual print issue of curated student writing and artwork, organizes a variety of workshops, discussions and lectures, and hosts an end-of-year vernissage and magazine launch.

Yiara's online platform brings together a larger artistic and scholarly community by publishing a variety of essays, artworks, reviews and interviews which contribute to the ongoing dialogue of issues raised by intersectional feminism.

By encouraging feminist dialogue within the field of art, we hope to raise critical questions on the art historical canon, study feminist representation, pay tribute to women and figures of the past, explore ideas of gender, and the self and give voice to students concerned with these themes in their work and practice.

Yiara Magazine was founded by Raissa Paes in 2012.
